GENERAL INFORMATION

SERVICE CLASSIFICATION RIDERS:

RIDER B (Continued)

DEFINITIONS: (Continued)

determined by the Company, to reflect the relationship between experienced actual Peak Day Gas Usage and the highest Average Daily Gas Usage. Average Daily Gas Usage is defined as the customer's metered gas usage for the billing period divided by the number of days in the billing period. For customers with Distributed Generation Facilities 5 MegaWatts and above and for customers with Distributed Generation Facilities less than 5 MegaWatts that elect to be billed under and comply with the terms and conditions of Rate Schedule II pursuant to Special Provision A hereunder, Peak Day Gas Usage is the customer's highest daily gas usage occurring during the annual determination period.

ELIGIBILITY:

Available to any commercial or industrial customer who is eligible to take service under Service Classifications Nos. 1, 2, or 6 of this Rate Schedule, upon written application and acceptance by the Company, subject to the provisions of this Rider and the applicable provisions of the customer's otherwise applicable service classification. A customer's initial and continued eligibility for service hereunder is contingent upon the customer maintaining an Annual Load Factor of at least 50 percent for its gas use.

For purposes of determining a customer's initial eligibility for service hereunder, the customer shall provide the Company with a reasonable estimate of customer's Peak Day Gas Usage and the customer's annual gas usage during the first year of operation of the customer's Distributed Generation Facility, with the first year commencing after a three-month start-up phase. Such estimate shall be submitted on a form provided by the Company that is completed and signed by a Professional Engineer retained by the customer. In the event a customer does not provide the Company with the required information to determine the customer's eligibility for service hereunder, the Company

Issued in compliance with order in Case 02-M-0515 dated 04/24/03
