GENERAL INFORMATION

14. GENERAL DEFINITIONS: (CONT'D)

Total Heating Value - Shall mean the number of BTUs produced by the combustion at constant pressure, of the amount of anhydrous gas which would occupy a volume of 1 cubic foot at a temperature of 60 degrees Fahrenheit and under an absolute pressure of 14.73 pounds per square inch with air of the same temperature and pressure as the gas, when the products of combustion are cooled to the initial temperature of gas and air, and when the water formed by combustion is condensed to the liquid state.

Water Vapor Content - Shall describe the condition of a cubic foot as either: Wet (W) - saturated with water vapor, or Dry (D) - anhydrous.

Therm - Shall mean the quantity of heat energy equal to 100,000 BTUs.

Dekatherm (Dth) - Shall be the quantity of heat energy equal to 1,000,000 BTUs.

Therm Factor - Shall be a factor obtained by the division of the total quantity of Dekatherms (Dth) purchased by the Company over a period of time by the total quantity of MCFs purchased over that same period of time, to four (4) decimal places.

Therm Factor Area - Shall be a geographic area where the energy content of the gas delivered is considered to be the same.

Billing Unit - Shall be CCF where prices are on a volumetric basis and therms where prices are on a heat content basis. The therm billing unit shall be determined by multiplying the Customer's CCF consumption by the appropriate Therm Factor.
